

FREE WEBINAR – April 20, 3 PM EST

Working with Industry to Reduce the Spread of Invasive Ornamental Plants: Lessons Learned from 10 Years of Collaboration and What the Future Holds

Speakers:

Mark Renz - Associate Prof/Extension Weed Specialist UW-Madison and President-Midwest Invasive Plant Network

Kurt Dreisilker - Head of Natural Resources Morton Arboretum and Treasurer-Midwest Invasive Plant Network

To register: <https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/89209257746400769>

Alternatives

Further reading

- To find additional photos, full descriptions and cultural information for the suggested alternatives, please refer to the following information:
- Arno's Invasive Plants for North American Gardens (Arno, A.C. 2014)
- Natural Alternatives to Invasive Plants (Coston-Rosen, L. 2016)
- Brooklyn Botanic Garden, Brooklyn, NY
- The New England Wild Flower Society: Guide to Growing and Propagating Wildflowers of the United States and Canada (Coston, L. 2016)
- Houghton Mifflin, Boston, MA
- Natural Plants in the Great Lakes for the Upper Midwest (Nussbaum, K. 2018)
- University of Wisconsin Press, Madison, WI
- Landscape with Native Trees (Nussbaum, K. 2018)
- University of Wisconsin Press, Madison, WI
- Chapman Publishing, Ltd., New Haven, CT
- Midwest Invasive Plant Network (MIPN.org)
- <http://www.mipn.org>
- info@mipn.org

MIPN.org
Midwest Invasive Plant Network

Landscape Alternatives for Invasive Plants of the Midwest

Cultivating awareness:
Ornamental plants invading natural areas

presented by
The Midwest Invasive Plant Network

0:01 / 13:42