The format will be to start when you are ready between 6.30 pm and 7.30 pm - and competitors starting at 1 minute intervals (unless there are lots) with 2 times available 60 or 75 minutes (Remember you can walk, jog or run and of course come back early if you want). Using the map provided (the map extracts to the side and below give an indication the sort of map and control sites you can visit and a blank map will be available to view before you start) you collect as many points as possible in the time you have chosen, with penalties for being late back. You write your answers on the clue sheet provided. Your best 3 results from the first 4 events will count to the prizes. A tariff will be applied to 'compensate' for the different ages and gender of those competing. The final event will be a 1 hour mass start event followed by the prizegiving

Even though it will be daylight, the wearing of high visibility clothing will be compulsory - reflective bibs will be available to borrow.
