Build America, Buy America (BABA) established a domestic content procurement preference for federally funded construction projects. The Vermont Department of Housing and Community Development will provide a virtual overview of BABA for Vermont community development building professionals. BABA will have a significant impact on Vermont construction projects utilizing federal funding resources. This informational session will cover key technical aspects of BABA, and help building professionals prepare for implementation.

All residential development, construction, building trades, and building contractor professionals are encouraged to attend. Construction industry service providers such as design, architecture, engineering, and legal professionals should also be prepared to support BABA implementation. The session will include relevant information for contractors, trades professionals, architects, engineers, building material suppliers, and developers.
